living essentials

Like life itself, our living spaces are in a constant state of change. Trends and individual preferences evolve regularly. Things come and go, whether it is as a result of technological innovations, growing collections or a pending move. But one thing is always true: Our living spaces reflect the way we think and feel. This is where we spend our time, relax, and enjoy life.

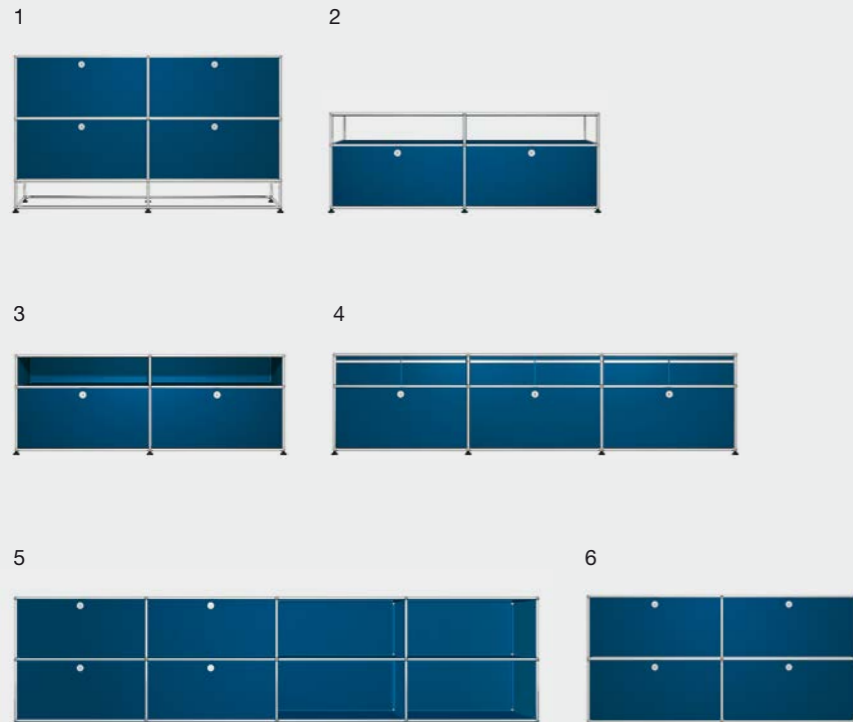

Furnishings that can move and grow with us, and take on new roles, are a prerequisite. Because of its modularity, USM furniture systems can be adjusted to our changing preferences, are constantly being reinvented, and thus become an expression of our impressions of life – desirable objects, that stay with us for a lifetime.

Our “living essentials” brochure provides some insight into the world of USM and shows a selection of select designs for the home.

Surfaces & Colors

USM Haller Table

Back lacquered etched glass

These translucent tabletops with their silky sheen are a real eye-catcher. The extra white float glass is given a coat of paint covering the entire underside.

Transparent glass

This is a real classic. The solid float glass, made of quartz sand, limestone, dolomite and soda, looks like a thin sheet of ice suspended in the air. Its homogeneous, smooth surface is particularly resistant to all forms of damage.

Granite

These two types of granite, Serizzo Formazza and Nero Assoluto, are medium to fine-grained and available with an impregnated, polished or matte surface. Serizzo Formazza has a bright, dynamic look thanks to its pale underground and irregular black inclusions, while Nero Assoluto gives an air of elegance and grace with its fine-grained deep black coloration.

Linoleum<sup>1</sup>

Linoleum is characterised by an agreeable warm feel thanks to the use of natural components and other sustainable materials such as linseed oil or wood floor. It is also slightly elastic and has antistatic properties that keep it dust-free.

Laminate

Laminate surfaces are extremely resistant to wear, denting and scratching. This type of material is characterised by a black border all the way round the table.

Oiled and lacquered veneer

The oiled tabletops look very impressive with their high-quality matt finish. Treatment with natural oil nicely brings out the natural grain of wood. The lacquered tabletops have been treated with a water-based paint giving them a slightly glossy look and making the wood more resistant to knocks.
